Cleary identified his associates as Wendell Lund, Donald C. Cook and Lawrence Hartwig, former Escanabans who are now in Washington, and Prentiss M. Brown, Jr., of St. Ignace. Cleary said that the group has organized a corporation for the purchase of acquiring the newspaper.

Cleary said that he does not believe that the desires of Mr. Norton in bequeathing the newspaper to the Board of Education for a scholarship fund in memory of his wife would be adequately carried out if the board negotiated a private sale as proposed by the employes of the paper.

In his statement to the board, Cleary said that he believes that there are a number of persons who are interested in submitting. Prentiss M. Brown Sr., former United States senator, now chairthose who is interested in submitting a proposal for the purchase of the newspaper.

The board discussed the sale of the newspaper at some length and decided to confer with James E Frost, executor of the John P Norton Estate, concerning definite plans for the disposition of the property.

Ken L. Gunderman, president of the Daily Press employes corporation, outlined to the board a revised proposal on behalf of the employes which he said would provide the maximum yield to the board for scholarship purposes.

Estimated Yield of $485,000 Under this proposal the employes offered to lease the paper for 10 years at an annual rental of $20,000, to pay $25,000 down as an evidence of good faith, this sum to be forfeited if the employes declined to exercise a purchase option at the end of the lease period. A fee of $3 for driver training students was fixed by the board at its meeting last night and the board approved an hourly rate of $1.75 for the three driver instructors, Denis Foltman, Irwin Wolfe and William Puckelwartz.

Supt. Lemmer reported to the board the results of a survey that he made recently regarding the policies of school boards in other areas concerning the hiring of local teachers and the hiring of married women teachers. He reported that a majority of the schools hire local teachers with two years teaching experience. A majority also hire married women teachers as an emergency policy in view of the teacher shortage. Some of the schools pay married women teachers according to the salary schedule and others do not, the survey indicated.

Escanaba Rotary Club. How firm a place his company has made for itself was established as Anthony explained the variety of wood products shipped to markets all over the country.

There are ice cream sticks, coffee stirrers, splints used in chemistry laboratories glue sticks, pot labels (those little wood pieces that carry the name of the flower and its price in greenhouses and florist shops), paint paddles, and the latest-ornamental picket fencing for use around your prettiest flower beds.

These articles are all made of thin strips of wood from Northern Michigan forests, are carefully cut or stamped and with additional printing on them if so

Check On Fog

Temperatures gauges will be placed at different room levels through the house to record the contact with flames.

The gauges will be read from a distance to show how quickly temperatures can be dropped by use of the fog. In similar experiments in other cities, temperatures in burning buildings have been dropped from a high of 1,450 degrees to 150 degrees in two minutes after application of the spray.

Such a drop makes entry of the building and subsequent rescue work possible sooner and effects quicker control and extinguishment of the blaze.

The fog, which was developed out of Coast Guard training during World War II, creates steam in such quantities as to drive the smoke and heat out of the burning building. About 90 per cent of the water thus thrown on a fire turns

Polish Skipper Stays In Britain

LONDON A-The Polish sea cap tain who hauled fugitive Gerhart Eisler to a Communist haven was a refugee from the Reds today and Britain was expected to grant him political asylum

The Pole, Capt. Jan Cwiklinski of the liner Batory, who was decorated by the Red Warsaw regime for his part in Eisler's escape from the U.S., stayed ashore with the ship's medical officer when the Batory sailed from Britain Satur-

Officials, maintaining tight secrecy about the whole affair, said only that the asylum request was under study.

Cwiklinski was held in Brixton Prison while his request for asylum was being studied. He is married and has a son and daughter. It was not known here whether they had made their way out of Poland or were still in Gdynia, the Batory's home port on the Baltic.

The Home Office said the ship's physician, whose name was given variously as Dr. Taklaeter, Tacreiter and Kovlitski, had been given permission to remain in Britain. He was said to be with friends in London. He is in Britain on a legal basis but his future status remains to be worked out. the Home Office added.

Individual home designs closely resembled present-day ramblers. In a typical Olynthian dwelling, the single, ground-level floor was divided into three or more rooms opening on a long portico. which in turn opened on a court.

The bathroom was much larger than present-day models and differed further in that it provided only those facilities which the name properly implies. A terracotta tub, shaped like a Victorian hip-bath, was built into the floor. At its foot a circular depression held water to be dipped over the bather. Olynthians lacked the luxury of running water. But fresh spring water was piped in to a centra fountain house from a mountain source 10 miles distant by an ingenious underground aqueduct

Private homes in Olynthus were fashioned from adobe brick, temperature - and sound-proof in a way few modern homes are. The city's streets were straight and broad, intersecting at regular inbervals to enclose blocks 300 feet long by 120 wide. Each block contained ten houses, five on either side, divided by a narrow alley. Each house, with patio, was about 60 feet square.

Terror in the afternoon

You know how it is with a five-year-old boy when the afternoon is bright and warm and there's a whole world to explore. To Denny, the ditch along the highway west of Royal Oak was a jungle path, and the culverts that ran with drainage water were so many caves that might be hiding treasure.

Then beside one culvert Denny's adventure was shattered. The water here was deeper than he knew and a slimy vise of mud sucked at him and closed around his knees. The jungle and the treasure disappeared and the trapped little boy stood terrified in the mud and screamed. And the fast traffic on Southfield Road roared by, right above his head.

In time, a Michigan Bell car came along.

It slowed down while the driver looked for a turn. Field Engineer G. B. Pritchard thought he heard a scream, then another. He stopped and got out. Then he looked down into the ditch ...

A big boy like Denny Beaman doesn't cry for long. Soon he could tell Pritchard his name and the street he lived on . . . almost a mile and a half away.

"Bud" Pritchard has two youngsters of his own, so he knew how Denny's frantic mother felt when he delivered the shaken but brave little boy to her door.

Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

CHEVROLET

As the official registration figures keep rolling in, they keep telling the same positive story about truck popularity and truck value: Again in 1953, for the twelfth straight production year, truck buyers show a clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. If you're a truck user, this fact is mighty important to you. Why? Well, as you know, trucks are built and bought for just one reason-to do a job. So isn't it logical then that since Chevrolet trucks outsell all others, they must do a better job at lower cost? -That's why it will pay you to stop in and people were unable to agree on game officials . . Other athletic meetings between the schools were also dropped.

Announcement was also made of a sportsmanship program which school officials hope will prevent a recurrence of the difficulties which came up last year . . The program seems to us worth reprinting here as a guide for all high schools and fans,

A coaches code of ethics includes: Keep the welfare of the boys constantly in mind; cooperate with fellow teachers, fellow coaches and administrators; keep competitive athletics as part of the educational program; win if possible, lose if necessary but at all times have the conduct of all contribute to a fuller understanding and keener appreciation of play; encourage good sportsmanship, and thereby, good citizenship; keep emotions under control.

Adults are encouraged to: Practice lusty cheering, but never jeering; applaud teams and coaches; abide by officials' decisions; have a good word for opponents; applaud all good plays and overlook honest mistakes; keep emotions under control; accept victory modestly and take defeat graciously; follow the contestants through poor as well as good seasons; bring good manners into the stands; set a good example for the younger generation and refrain from heckling contestants and coaches.

The schools hope to discourage souped-up publicity of games: discourage the practice of entertaining players, coaches and administrators until after the M-M game; and discourage the practice of asking coaches to speak at special club programs before the game.
